“Out of the Dragon’s Lair”...

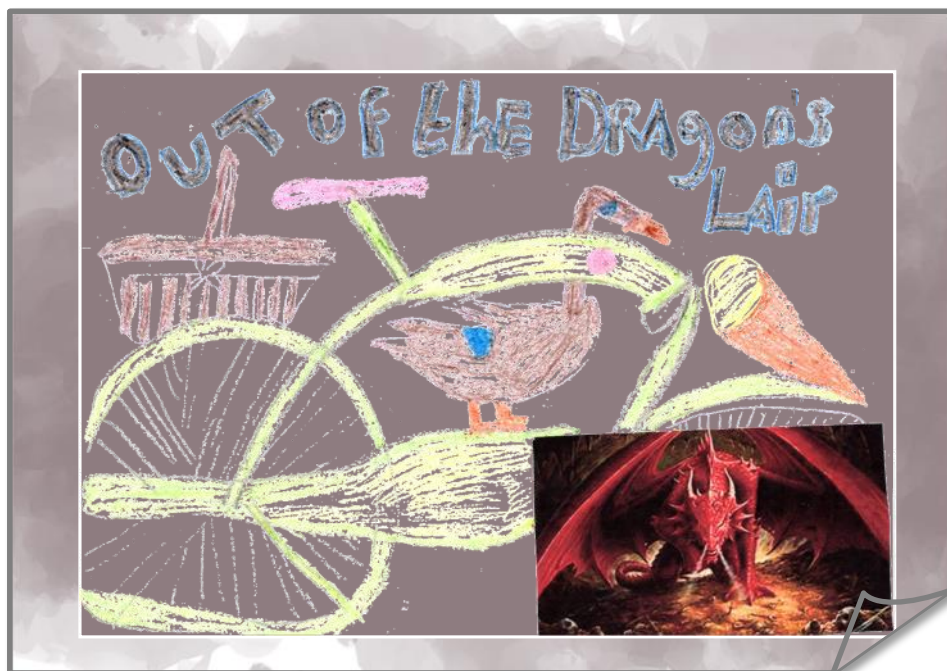

Rockspring update:

We had a lovely week as some of our members began to return to Rockspring.

We baked cakes, planted herbs, began to tidy up the garden and Chloe designed the cover for our fab new Writers’ Club book.

We’d like to say a massive big thank you to everyone who has attended so far - for following all of the guidelines and helping us all to keep Covid Safe.

We look forward to welcoming more members back this week and are keeping places open and ready for those not yet able to return to Rockspring.

We’re always thrilled to see the fab work that our super talented Members have been producing.

With this week’s newsletter, we’re very excited to share a brand new short story by our Writers’ Club - who have been collaborating digitally together to produce this story!

We're very pleased to be able to send this out to you to enjoy with the newsletter.

You can also download a copy from our website: Click here to download your copy of the book

Spoiler alert: It’s a bit of a cliff-hanger and we can’t wait for the next chapter. Well done to the Writers’ Club!
